

Reviews

Don Quixote (唐吉可德)

“Lone Ranger meets the Accidental Hero”

Jovita

A tall tale spun through elaborate backdrops and costumes kept me captivated throughout the movie. I couldn't help but root for this Chinese interpretation of the legendary Don Quixote figure. Great cast brought forth very believable fantastical adventures. Not usually a fan of period dramas, this one took me by surprise... I highly recommend watching this movie.

Esther

“Innovative”

I cannot define the type of movie it is and its main theme. It can be a combination of martial arts, love story or comedy. I think the magnificent visual and special effects in this movie are the highlights and can be pioneered on innovation in Chinese movies.

---

We know superheroes. They all come with superpower. But how can a non-hero do something heroic? I am touched by this tragic hero after he regains his sanity. He motivates the true heroes from the underground martial art world to unite together. The real superpower is not with the armory but in the heart.

This movie from the Chinese Mainland surprises me by the director's effort to translate the world classics to another dimension.

Edwin

Don Quixote

Director: Agan / Cast: Guo Tao, Karena Lam, Liu Hua, Wang Gang

Language: Mandarin / Subtitle: English and Traditional Chinese

Run Time: 112 min / Rate: II-A (Hong Kong)

Theatrical Release: Oct 15, 2010 (PRC), Oct 28, 2010 (Hong Kong), Nov 12, 2010 (Taiwan) / Inflight Release: March 2011

Territories: Worldwide

an encore experience