

Reviews

Paradise Kiss (パラダイス・キス)

Clueless meets High School Musical

I walked into this screening thinking I would be bored because it would be too young for me... senior citizen as I am.... but I was pleasantly proven wrong. An entertaining, visually pleasing and engaging movie about a group of youths, searching for their place in life. From the high fashion world to drabby school life, Paradise Kiss takes you on a colourful journey amidst great music! 🕒

Jovita

Jackie

A hip and stylish group of 4th year university designers a prodigy, an airhead, a rebel, and cross dresser, all need to put together a final fashion show and they need a model. When they find one, she is hesitant and an unwilling to be a candidate. It takes their genius, prodigy ringleader with a big cynical heart to convince and show Yukari her own potential. Their relationship grows into something more yet they never take it anywhere. They drift apart after the graduation fashion show and continue on their career paths until coincidences bring them together again. Where does it go from here? 🕒

Esther

I like this movie as it combines comedy, romance and drama. The creative fashions and loveable characters add much more enjoyment to the audience. This movie can inspire teenagers with creativity, self-awareness and self-confidence to make their dreams come true. 🕒

Paradise Kiss

Director: Takehiko Shinjo / Cast: Keiko Kitagawa, Osamu Mukai, Yusuke Yamamoto, Shunji Igarashi, Aya Omasa, Kento Kaku, Natsuki Kato
Language: Japanese / Subtitles: English; (English and Chinese TBC) / Rating: G (Japan), G (MPAA) / Theatrical Release: June 4, 2011 (Japan) / Inflight Release: Sep 2011 / Run Time: 115 min (Theatrical); TBC (Edited) / Territories: Worldwide ex-Japan