

encore

Reviews

THE WEDDING PARTY

Green Card meets My Big Fat Greek Wedding

Witness what happens when Steve tries to keep his marriage of convenience quiet but his family decides to get involved in throwing him the wedding of his life! Many funny moments to keep you chuckling through the movie... many moving moments that will shake those tear ducts as well. Settle into some good old fashion entertainment!

Jovita

Esther

Humorous & Entertaining

It is a comedy drama about love, families and intimacy. Wedding party used to be full of happy moments but it is not the same if it is a fake marriage. Both the bride and bridegroom have their loved ones. The fake marriage is a secret deal between the Russian bride who wants to seek for residency and the bridegroom who wants to get a huge sum of money to save himself from financial problems. Don't miss the ending of the wedding party to see how the bridegroom's decision is for his true love.

Hilarious, Steve (Josh Lawson) is so spot on in his acting of a debt riddled guy who thinks he's doing the right thing by agreeing to a fake marriage for money to Russian beaut (Isabelle Lucas). His family, which consist of crazy characters, finds out and the troubles ensues adding to Steve's already tricky situation. I enjoyed all the characters and they were all well casted.

Jackie

Edwin

Witty story. Through the wedding of Steve and the Russian bride Ana, the family event brings out the multifaceted facts in marriage lives. I find the side stories of the brother and sister are as intriguing as Steve's mission to earn quick money. At different stages of life and facing different challenges in their respective relations, the family members are all finding solution to know and to heal themselves. And amazingly the naked truth comes from the teenager niece at the end of the film. "If you really want to get close to someone, you have to show them who you really are, and trust that they won't run away." Also, the choice of music plays a great role to lighten up the story.

Genre: Romantic ComedyDirector: Amanda JaneStarring:

Josh Lawson (Squid The Movie, Spaced),

Isabel Lucas (Transformers: Revenge of the Fallen, Daybreakers, The Waiting City),

Essie Davis (The Matrix Revolution, The Matrix Reloaded, Girl With Pearl Earring)

Steve Bisley (Mad Max, The Chain Reaction, Red Hill)

Nadine Garner (Mull, Metal Skin, The Book of Revelations)

Kestie Morassi (Wolf Creek, Dirty Deeds, Blame)

Language: English Subtitle: Traditional Chinese (available)Runtime: 97 minutes Theatrical: AustraliaRating: Australia - MA15+, MPAA - R (edited version available)Territories: Worldwide excluding Australia, New Zealand, Festivals: Award Winner at LA Comedy (Best Direction and Best Screenplay), LA Movie (Best Actor, Screenplay, Production Design), Las Vegas IFF (Golden Ace), Mexico IFF (Silver Palm), New York IFF (Best Feature Film, Actor, director).

Eric

Steve who is the youngest son of the Thomson family agrees to marry Anna. The side story is both of them have their own plan in mind where Steve want to save his company by marrying Anna, Anna wants a green card so promises to marry Steve. After the deal is done, his family plans a big wedding party. But are they in love with each other? 